Dear Joshua,

I received your letter and am starting to receive the books. The most urgent one has arrived.

Although I am in a great rush with manuscripts, urgent duties, etc., I would like to say that on arrival of your letter confirming your move to Stanford and the possibility of your visit to Pavia next year, I sent you a telegram, so that you would know in good time that there will be no trouble in securing financial help for your visit - $1500 for your fares and $1500 for salary for Esther or yourself, according to your needs. We can talk about this further in Stockholm.

I have received the enclosed postcard from Seymour and unless I receive a forwarding address from him before I leave, I will bring his camera and films with me to Stockholm.

Looking forward to meeting you and Esther again,

Yours sincerely,

P.S. Enclosed is a copy of my schedule.
